(a) whether Government are exercising gender bias in not extending the tenure of young lady officers, of Armed Forces after completion of 10 year commissioned service whereas similarly placed men officers are considered for regular commission in the Armed Forces;

(b) if so, whether Government are thinking of utilising the valuable experience gained and expertise developed by these lady officers in comparable status civilian jobs in Armed Forces; and

(c) if not. the reasons therefor ?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF DEFENCE (PROF. CHAMAN LAL GUPTA): (a) No, Sir, there is no gender bias. Terms and conditions for recruitment/commission of officers for Short Service Commission/ Permanent Commission is identical for both the sexes in Armed Forces Medical Services.

Lady officers are granted Short Service Commission for a period of 5 years, extendable by another 5 years. However, no provision exists for grant of Permanent Commission for lady officers in the Army. This constraint is on account of practical problems of deployment since lady officers cannot be posted to field areas, line of control, international border etc. The Women Special Entry Scheme (Officers) was created as a support cadre for a limited duration and grant of Permanent Commission to lady officers is not feasible due to service considerations.

(b) and (c) No such proposal is being considered at present.
